This engaging week will feature thought-provoking presentations, collaborative workshops, and an opportunity to exchange insights with partner institutions. Together, we will examine how AI can shape the future of academic institutions, drive innovation, and enhance operational efficiency. Furthermore you will get to know our unique campuses, the city of Krems itself and of course IMC Krems staff members and students.

Who can join?

This event is open to anyone interested in the intersection of AI and higher education transformation. Whether you are an IT professional, an administrator, or a faculty member, your input is invaluable. We encourage participation from all sectors, as diverse perspectives are key to a comprehensive understanding and successful collaboration.

How to apply?

Please fill out the following registration form until February 21st, 2025 at the latest. A selection committee will decide on the acceptance of your application by February 25th, 2025. IMC Krems reserves the right to accept only 1 person per institute, depending on the number of applicants.
